• Artist

Son Donghyun (b.1980) graduated from the Department of Eastern Painting at Seoul National University (2005) and completed a master's course at its graduate school (2014). He has been working as an exclusive artist at Gallery 2 since 2007. Son Donghyun is an artist who explores a new way of existence for Korean painting in the 21st century by combining East Asian painting and pop culture. In 2006, through his first solo exhibition 《Paap Aikhon: 波狎芽益混》 held at Art Space Hue, he received attention with a work combining Korean painting and pop icons. He presents works that approach pop icons such as Michael Jackson, the villain of Hollywood movies, or the Nike logo with the aesthetics of the 'Jeonsinsajo'. Moreover, he explored the synchronism of East Asian painting through various attempts such as combining Western styles with Korean traditional contents or techniques.

• Explanation

The artist expresses the theme of the work by using pointillism. The arms, legs, and hair are drawn with dots as if they were flying. Unlike the previous series of works that approached the symbolic icons of popular culture with 'Jeonsinsajo' which expresses not only the appearance but also the characters' spirit through the portrait, it is a work that shows a new form. As in the title of Dot Dot, the word 'dot' was engraved on the shoulder in Chinese characters.
