• Artist

Ji Yongho(b.1978) graduated from Hongik University's Department of Sculpture (2005) and obtained a Master's degree in Fine Art from New York University Graduate School (2008). He made his debut on the art scene using unfamiliar material, tires. With the concept of 'mutants', he tried to express the reality in which the truth has been distorted by fundamental human selfishness or desire, such as genetic engineering and environmental pollution. Currently, he is producing 'Hybrid Mutants' and 'Color Mutants' series by overcoming the physical limitations of sculpture through 3D modeling techniques. Through these series, he can overcome the limitations of the 'Tire Mutant' series and enable him to express his thoughts.

• Explanation

The characteristic of 'New Mutants' is the diversity of materials. Tiger Shark is made of aluminum casting instead of 'used tires', and is a work that combines sharks and tigers. The artist used 3D modeling to emphasize the texture of the torso and made the tiger muscle larger to express it in detail. He reinterpreted form, material, color, and texture through aluminum casting.
