• Artist

Park Chanmin(b.1970) graduated from Korea University's Department of German Literature (1997) and obtained a master's degree from Chung-Ang University's Graduate School of Photography (2008). After that, he graduated from the University of Edinburgh, UK with a Master's degree in Contemporary Art (2011). Park Chanmin explores urban structures and captures the essence of the urban spaces and the life of its dweller. The partially erased urban landscape comprehensively shows the urban structures and the life of people, regardless of any country in the world. His work visualizes the universal characteristics of urban spaces while at the same time carefully alerting us to standardized urban life. Furthermore, by maintaining a neutral point of view, the artist made viewers lead different interpretations of the city.

• Explanation

Park Chanmin's Photo is about the city scenery where nature has stepped aside. In order to exclude the three-point perspective effect as much as possible, the camera's focus was set at the midpoint between the city landscape looking up and aerial views looking down. The shooting time is around noon and the artist thoroughly excludes dramatic atmospheres, events, and some fleeting scenes. The picture was taken with the tallest building in Korea, Lotte Tower, in the center.
