• Artist

Jung Jihyun (b.1983) graduated from Chung-Ang University's Department of Photography (2010) and obtained a master's degree (2016). He later completed his Ph.D. program in the Department of Arts at the same graduate school (2019). Jung Jihyun works to share and record memories about the city's architecture through her photos. His artist intervenes formative in the construction site and constructs his art form by temporarily transforming elements or parts of the architecture. The walls were painted red to express that destructive sites were places of life in the past, or to transform the space by installing variable structures with building materials. What is revealed nakedly in this way is the 'inside', neither inside nor outside, of buildings we have never seen before.

• Explanation

A building that is collapsing for redevelopment was shooted. He enters the building will be demolished as if trespassing and paints red paint on the space he randomly selected. The walls, windows, and stairs located in the middle of the work are painted red before shooting. Red is a clear memory that cannot easily erase, a signal of rescue from beings in danger of being forgotten, and a symbol of violation against the violence of the demolition site.
