• Artist

Hong Kyoungtack (b.1968) majored in painting at Kyungwon University and is currently working in Seoul. In his first solo exhibition SHRINE held at Insa Art Space in 2000, the 'Pens' series and 'Library' series, which are widely known to us today, were presented. It began to attract attention in the art world. In 2005, in the solo exhibition Funkchestra to commemorate the reopening of the Arko Art Museum. It received great attention as a work that expresses melodies with color and format, and combines images, symbols, and texts of celebrities with them. Since then, he has established himself as a leading Korean artist through solo and group exhibitions at major domestic and foreign museums and major galleries, and is still active today.

• Explanation

The series of works, 'Funkchestra,' features pop stars from various artistic genres in a square shape. Or, like 'AIDS,' the four-letter text conveys a sense of contemporary issues and various words are accompanied by musical elements. Among these forms, "Fire & Fury" is composed entirely of letters with repetitive patterns. There is a bold FIRE in the four corners and four FURYs on the east, west, south, and north sides of the center circle. "Fire and Fury" is the title of a book by journalist Michael Wolff that chronicles the big stories of President Trump's first year in office. In the center circle, the title of the song "Hate Makes the World go Round" by singer Paindonor is rhythmically expressed in various fonts to add a musical element.
